This foyer (residence hall) is similar in appearance to most American university campuses. There's a campus-like atmosphere with landscaping throughout the grounds and a beautiful park just across the street. Individual buildings house students from all over the world with each country housed in its own building. Students in the foyers usually organize many activities together. There is a security system and students are issued a security card for building access. This foyer is only open to men and women with United States citizenship age 29 or younger.
